VIKES, CARLETON IN CHARITY CONTEST

MAKE PLANS FOR COLLEGE DANCE DEC. 18

Jeanette Jenkins is Appointed Chairman for Student Senate Party

Plans for an all college Christmas party Friday, Dec. 18, were launched at a meeting of Student Senate Tuesday night.

As announced at the meeting, Tom Temple and his band will furnish music for dancing. While no definite admission price has been decided upon, senate members stated that it will be no more than one dollar per couple.

At a previous meeting of the senate, Jeanette Jenkins, '32, was appointed to investigate the feasibility of a party just before the Christmas recess. She has been retained as chairman in charge of making arrangements for the party. Committees will be named soon to work out arrangements for the function.

Not Formal

In announcing the party, it was stated that it would not be a formal affair as was the party just before the Christmas recess last year. Last year the party was held in the old gymnasium, this year it will be held in the new gymnasium.

So well received was the Christmas formal last year, that the senate was not hesitant about considering the party this year. However, because of economic conditions it was deemed wise by the senate to limit the party to a Christmas function, rather than establish it as a formal party.

EUROPE STILL VERY BITTER

Dr. Baker Tells of the Conditions Existing Eleven Years After Armistice

"Thirteen years ago today, a delirium of joy swept over the civilized world, and optimism prevailed—optimism that wars were ended and that a new era was dawning for war-scarred Europe and the world," said Dr. L. C. Baker in his Armistice day address Wednesday in convocation.

Versailles made a new map of Europe, new states were created, and boundaries were changed. From the old state of Austria-Hungary five countries were formed, Dr. Baker declared.

A serious situation has arisen because of these new boundaries and states; feelings of nationalism have been accentuated, hatreds have been renewed and new ones have been formed, he explained. The main hatreds are the Franco-German, Hungarian-Czech, Hungarian-Romanian, and the German-Polish. Dr. Baker continued. These hatreds and fears have caused Europe to be an armed camp bound up by alliances made by France with Poland, Roumania, Czechoslovakia, and Yugoslavia, he pointed out. By means of these treaties France has completely encircled central Europe toward which she still expresses a great deal of fear, he continued.

World disarmament seems very far away with the present situation in Europe, Dr. Baker continued. Countries have built up tariff walls which only served to further separate the different states; having been lowered lately because of the depression.

The outside world's ideal of the United States of Europe will never be realized until cooperation between the countries is received, Dr. Baker pointed out. As long as the realistic policy which guides European diplomats to get as much as possible for themselves, without regard for the means or the effect it has on others, this cooperation will never be realized, Dr. Baker concluded.

NAME DUKET PRODUCTION STAFF HEAD

Watkins Selected Head of the Electrical Department; Others Named

Russell Duket, '32, has been selected to head the production staff for the Sunset club play, "To the Ladies," to be presented early in December. Announcement was made by Prof. F. T. Cloak, Lawrence dramatic coach, of this selection and of members of the staff to aid in the production.

Duket is to have charge of all production details in connection with the presentation, aided in the electrical department by Charles Watkins, '33, who is to take charge of the electrical equipment and its functioning, aided by a staff of assistants. Members of Sunset who are to aid in the back-stage work are Harold Sperka, '32, Charles Peerenboom, '32, Roy McNeil, '33, and William Little, '34. Margaret Briggs, '33, Evelyn Betzer, '34, and Katherine Lind-say, '35, are to take charge of the properties for the production. Carl Wetengel, '33, has been selected to head the ushering staff for all Lawrence college theatre productions for the year.

What's This? Two New Fraternities On Campus

Note: In view of the fact that the campus has recently become quite astir over the foundations of two local fraternities, the editors of the Lawrentian in keeping with the policy of the paper to print the latest news, secured a member of each group to give Lawrentian readers first hand information concerning the new fraternities:

IOTA ETA APPLE

Iota Eta Apple, the most modern and democratic fraternity on the campus, was founded Nov. 10, 1931. Since that date its membership has spread widely, including students from both "Con" and college, and several faculty members.

It is founded on the noble idea of health with its resulting scholarship and leadership. Its password is democracy, which overlooks minor differences such as seniority and worthless tradition. Its spirit is one of economy, recognized as worthwhile by educated people. Its membership numbers 62, including pledges. Iota Eta Apple is climaxing its rushing activities with the donation of its initiation fees, several bushels of apples, to a charitable organization of Appleton.

Are But Crusts

It is offering competition to another and much older organization. The members of Eta Alpha Pi, as it is called, are rapidly losing favor on the campus by broadcasting as their highest ideals, tradition, exclusiveness, and pie-eating. The Pies are coming to the realization that they are but the crusts of a crumbling order.

Iota Eta Apple is symbolic of the intrinsic value of new and worthy purposes which can fittingly replace aimless activity and unhealthy tradition.

Frolic Tonight

The usual frolic will be held tonight. Hank Johnson's orchestra will furnish the music. Mr. and Mrs. John S. Mills will chaperone.

Cast Light Vote In Frosh Primary

The extremely small total of 62 votes was cast in the freshman primary elections held Thursday noon in the Lawrence Memorial chapel, John Strange, president of the Student Senate, in charge of the elections, announced.

Freshmen receiving the two highest totals cast for their office are president, Norman Clapp, '38, Tom Leach, '24; vice president, Ellen Balliet, '20, Betty Gaffney, '41; treasurer, Oliver Williams, '20, Bertram Ashman, '27; secretary Alice Bauman, '48, Helen Ruid, '13; Forensic board, Howard High, '50, Charles Carroll, '7; Student Senate, Thomas Connor, '30, and Arthur Mattes, '12.

Balloting, due to the small number of electors, was very close in all offices, more noticeably between second and third places in each office.

Final balloting will take place in the Lawrence Memorial chapel, Tuesday, Nov. 17, at noon. Strange has placed special emphasis on the necessity for each member of the freshman class to be present at the final voting.

The entire production staff is composed of members of the Sunset club, as is the cast for the play, in accordance with the presentation which is entirely a Sunset project. However, Professor Cloak has explained, many lesser positions on the staff are yet to be filled and it is his desire to select persons to fill these vacancies from the members of the undergraduate group who are desirous of making points toward membership in the Sunset club.

ETA ALPHA PI

Eta Alpha Pi, Lawrence's next to the youngest Greek letter fraternity, was founded at Russell Sage, on Monday, Nov. 2, 1931. In order to justify or correct the numerous rumors rife about the organization, the Lawrentian requested a personal interview with its president. We shall quote her verbatim:

"It is very simple," she said brightly. The name reveals all. You see, each pledge offers to each active Alpha pie. As soon as the actives have eaten the pledge's Alpha, that pledge is automatically an active, and is entitled to Alpha pie from each ensuing pledge. This goes on indefinitely.

Sage Is Beta

"At Ormsby we have Alpha chapter, because it's so small, and anyway, the one at Sage is Beta. Last night we installed Sigma, at the Infirmary, of course. The next chapter will have to be Nu.

"The Council consists of the two charter members—" (at our dismayed expression she explained)—"because we were the first and because we couldn't afford to buy pies for ourselves. Then there are two honorable members and one member extraordinary. We have 40 actives to date, and 47 pledges.

My What Constitutions

"Inasmuch as the organization is not secret, I may divulge the password, which is 'Burp,' and the yell—'Eta Alpha Pi More Pi!' The whistle is the familiar strain from Chopin's Funeral March.

"I am very optimistic about the future of Eta Alpha Pi. We are growing daily; every worthy girl on the campus is buying or has bought pies for us. There is only one drawback," she concluded pensively, "We of the Council feel that we should have a constitution—a good one. We need it."

PICK TEAMS FOR TRYOUTS

Seventeen Women Will Compete in Debate Elimination Contest

Seventeen women attended the debate tryout held Wednesday, Nov. 11. The women drew slips to determine which teams they will work on for the tryout debates which are to be held Nov. 30.

Four of the college women interested in debate have already earned their "L's" and will not have to try out. They are: Maxine Fraser, '32, Patsy Molzow, '32, Emogene Perschbacher, '33, and Lucille Schwartz, '32.

Those trying out for the squad are: Alice Balgie, '34, Margaret Berry, '35, Helen Brodin, '33, Florence Culver, '34, Zenith Forsythe, '33, Doris Gates, '35, Frances Gregg, '35, Helen Snyder, '33, June Spearbraker, '35, Eleanor Walker, '34, Alice May Whittier, '34, Rosemary Wiley, '35, and Vivian Wright, '33.

The question for women's debate is, "Resolved, That the United States should offer to cancel war debts and reparations."

GAME MARKS END OF 1931 GRID SEASON

Coach Clapp Drives Men at Lively Clip for the Final Encounter

By Sam Smith

Lawrence will close its 1931 football season Saturday, when it meets Carleton college in a Midwest Conference game at Whiting field. It will be a charity game, Lawrence authorities having agreed to pay Carleton's guarantee and donate all receipts over $150 to local charities.

Seven seniors will be playing their last game in a Viking jersey, four of them being previous letter winners in football. The men are: Herbert Vanderbloemen, captain and end; Tom Ryan, halfback; Lardner Coffee, tackle; Louis Schier, halfback; Lewellyn Lund, fullback; Chestley Gebhart, halfback; and Charles Culmer, tackle. The athletic careers of all these men will not be closed, however, as Vanderbloemen plays guard on the basketball team, Ryan is on the swimming team, and Schier is a member of the track squad.

Coach Percy Clapp was apparently dissatisfied with the showing in the Carroll game last Saturday and has put the squad through some intensive workouts all week. He even went so far as to carry the ball himself in scrimmage Tuesday night. With injuries at zero, the team is in the best shape of the season. Indications are that Coach Clapp will use the same starting lineup as the Carroll game. It is Vanderbloemen and Haase, ends; Coffee and Kuehner, tackles; Fahres and Collins, guards; MacMillan, center; and Lund, Roemer, Gebhart, and Faber in the backfield.

Carleton Strong

While Carleton has not the powerful squad of a few years ago when it was the class of the Midwest and Minnesota conference, yet its 33 to 2 defeat of Coe last week proves that it is anything but a pushover. The Carls have been playing on and off football all season, but their last few victories show that the squad has at last found its stride.

Lawrence has not had an altogether successful season, either. Two wins over Carroll and three defeats in the rest of the five games played is the record to date. The Saturday game will mean much to Carleton, because of its undefeated record in the Midwest conference so far. It has played and won one game, while Lawrence has played and lost two, to Ripon and Beloit.

In the three games played so far between the two schools, Carleton has won them all. The first meeting in 1927 was a runaway for Carleton, 25 to 0, when it displayed a strong aerial attack. Again in 1928, the Northlanders won, 12 to 7, by using a strong line attack when the Lawrence defense was powerful against passes. While no game was played in 1929, last year found Coach Eddie Kotal and his Vikings invading Northfield to begin another series. A bone-crushing attack led by the giant halfback Broberg, swept Lawrence aside in a 27 to 7 defeat.

ANOTHER GESTURE?

The Lettered Grading System recently adopted by our faculty will minimize the importance of "grades" and, though a mere variation of appearances, the scheme is sound. However, like most palliatives, it dodges the real issue. "Is a human being capable of satisfactorily judging his kind?" (Even the faculty violently disagree among themselves concerning objective testing methods.)

The committee to whom the essentials of the plan have been referred for completion is confronted with a real task. Some may consider the problems mere trifles, so we await the committee's report. One trifle that must be answered is that of "honoring" students. Also, it must be remembered that formerly a student could attain high "B" grades that would elevate an unfortunate or prejudiced "C" to a "B" average. Again, the new system ranks the 85 student in the same category as the former 90 student—an insult to one, a lie to the other, an injustice to both.

This column believes that the professors will use the same hieroglyphic designs, as formerly, to mark their class books, and, consequently, that the change is one of mere appearance. Even in this sense the plan is admirable, once the trifling questions are answered, but we recognize that it is a nebulous variation that fails to grapple with the fundamental problems of a college.

A change in the appearance of the grading system does not improve the calibre of our student body; nor does it strengthen our faculty. We are reminded of a similar gesture of last spring, the result of which meant "departmentalized" courses and a "re-edited" catalogue.

In the November 2, issue of the Milwaukee Journal the special correspondent explains that H. G. Wells may not be able to visit the University of Wisconsin because of illness. The writer further explains that "The trip Mr. Wells was planning to Madison was to gather data for a book on the decadence of western civilization."

"What is mind? No matter. What is matter? Never mind."—T. H. Key.

Etiquette Books in Demand As Exchange Dinners Near

Men of Brokaw and women of Ormsby are teeming with excitement as they eagerly await the first "exchange" dinner. Joseph Kexel, '33, of Brokaw and Enid Smith, '32, of Ormsby announce that arrangements are complete and that tonight, half the men will eat at Ormsby, while half the women will dine at Brokaw.

The plan is meeting with unanimous support and approval at every hand. Faint hearts rejoice, for at last they have an opportunity to meet these whom they feared to pursue. Men of Brokaw shout with joy, for not only will they have the pleasure of the girls' company, but Miss Mida Naylor, matron, promises unusually fine meals for the occasion.

The women welcome the opportunity of watching awkward men desperately attempt to be perfect gentlemen, but reflect, apprehensively, "What manner of food do these monsters eat?"

Local book stores report a heavy demand for "Etiquette" books, and cleaning and pressing businesses are experiencing a prosperity surpassed only by the homecoming rush. Even the dime-store is flourishing with additional sales of lip-stick, powder, hairoil, and shoe polish, in fact, all things seem to indicate that the dinner will be a great success.

These exchanges will be repeated, from time to time, during the remainder of the school year.

SO THEY SAY

Nov. 13, 1931.

Editor of the Lawrentian,

Dear Sir:

The age old question of deferred rushing has once more been resurrected on the Lawrence campus. It has been suggested that the present open short system of rushing is unsuccessful and that it should be modified. Had the author of the article on deferred rushing read carefully his fraternity manuals for the last ten years he would know that the policy of deferred rushing has proven unsatisfactory and undesirable on practically every campus where it was tried. Theoretically it sounds ideal. The advocate implies that under that system the freshmen would become well acquainted and pick their fraternities because they know and like the members; they would not be taken in by the "short time splurge;" they would become friendly with each other without dividing into fraternity groups.

Why Does It Fail?

Why then does deferred rushing fail? Why do colleges and universities abandon it after it has been tried? A few years ago it was tried here and failed and yet the writer infers that it would be successful in small colleges. For two years Beloit adopted deferred rushing and today they are again using the short open rushing season. The freshmen and upperclassmen were separated during this period, but the writer has evidence that they did not become better acquainted—as had been expected. The disadvantages far outweighed the advantages. As a class, the freshmen were very discontented. Non-fraternity affiliations eliminated social activities and much helpful group competition. There was less incentive for success in the matter of grades, for, like it or not, it is an admitted fact that freshmen will work hard for grades.

Many years ago National Panhellenic council recommended a trial for deferred rushing and on the majority of campuses it failed in practice what it had attempted in purpose. In deferred rushing the features that are now objectionable would be stretched out for a longer period of time. For the last six years, N. P. C. has recommended the short, open rushing season at the beginning of the year—and found it successful. In deferred rushing the scholarship of the upperclassmen suffers and that of the freshmen is no better. The amount of money spent was increased, for, despite rules forbidding rushing, it was carried on informally, and twice as expensively, while the so-called "personal contacts" were being established. Under the present system the strain of rushing lasts five days—under the suggested system it would carry through a whole semester and that would be far from desirable.

Low Enrollment

An important factor at Beloit and Knox was the fact that the colleges suf-

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

A very conciliatory note from Tokio was delivered by Ambassador Debuchi of Japan to Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, Wednesday. Japan is evidently willing to evacuate all but Southern Manchuria if the safety of her nationals there will be assured and if China will indicate a sincere desire to respect existing treaties.

Fighting between Japanese and Chinese in Manchuria was resumed Tuesday at Kuchengtzu, 400 miles south of Nonni river battle district, and 200 Chinese and three Japanese were reported killed. The Japanese war office reports that 129 Japanese soldiers fered the lowest freshman enrollment in years while deferred rushing was in practice. Many students go to college planning to stay one year and then return because of fraternity connections. With deferred rushing that added incentive is missing. According to statistics, freshmen prefer schools where membership in a fraternity is possible the first year. The idea of having rushing early has proven more successful at Beloit and elsewhere. As the college enrollment continued low the old policy of the short, open rushing season was renewed.

The freshmen living at Ormsby and Brokaw mingle freely and make friends in every sorority and fraternity. An analysis on this campus would prove, as a general rule, that the freshmen and upperclassmen are satisfied with their choice of fraternities and pledges. Freshmen profit by the contacts which fraternity life brings them and that influence is most useful to them when they are first entering school and adjusting themselves to college life.

The situation at Lawrence is not perfect by any means, but it is infinitely better than deferred rushing could ever be—as I have said it is theoretically ideal, but proof is proof—deferred rushing is a dead issue.

—J. C.

have been killed and 400 wounded thus far in fighting in Manchuria.

At Tientsin, the American Methodist girls' school was struck by shells fired from Japanese guns in the Japanese concessions in the bombardment of the Chinese quarter of the town. The girls were removed to safety in the foreign concessions. The firing in Tientsin has continued, and the Chinese Chamber of Commerce has asked American and French protection of the city. Rioting by disbanded Chinese soldiers still threatens, and most foreigners have sought refuge in the foreign concessions.

Professor Picard, who last May ascended over 50,000 feet in a free balloon, and a group of Belgian physicists plan another flight into the stratosphere which is 10 miles above the earth. The flight will be made in two airplanes, now in construction on which will have motors three times as powerful as those on present airplanes.

Miss Ruth McGurk will spend the weekend with friends in Madison.

Emmet Mortell of the Appleton high school squad pulled one of the cleverest bits of football we've seen in many a moon when he converted for the extra point after the first Orange touchdown Wednesday. The ball was dribbled back from center to Neller, who fumbled it, and then passed laterally to Mortell. The big Appleton triple threat man started to run, but was boxed in by a gang of Kaw huskies; he pivoted, backed up a few steps and sent a dropkick sailing over the crossbars from a 30 degree angle. Who said the art of drop kicking was a thing of the distant past?

You'll pardon our ranting on high school subjects, but when a team can crash through with twenty points as fast as Appleton did, and get the winning touchdown with only 30 seconds to play, it is high time the freshmen (still filled with high school pepper) hear about it. Rah, rah! rah!!

Carleton has a chance to tie for the Midwest title against the Vikes tomorrow, but playing title aspirants is no novelty for Percy Clapp, the Vike tutor. His squad demoralized Carroll, potential Big Four champs this year, and for the past several seasons his Milwaukee Normal boys kept bumping off strong oncomers in a most sensational manner. May the bumping continue for charity's sake on the morrow.

Can you imagine people eating pies until they're cross-eyed? Butterscotch pies, at that? We suppose they'll start having contests within this new sorority, and then where will all this diet-produced loveliness go? Reach for an apple instead.

The Greek gentlemen who masquerade as fraternity men here at Lawrence have started shoving the little round volleyballs down each other's throats of late, trying to get in trim for the rapidly approaching season. There should be a course in volleyball technique in college, if the way a lot of those boys hop around is any indication of the antics that will be followed all year.

Rustling of each purple curtain
Thrilled me, so I quit.

Seven Gridders Don Blue and White for Last Time

When the gun barks the end of tomorrow's Lawrence-Carleton football game at Whiting field, it will close the collegiate football careers of seven Vikings who have fought to make what looked like a miserable season a fairly successful one.

Three linemen and a quartet of backfield performers will make their final bow to Lawrence grid fans. Captain Vanderbloemen, whose aggressive and heady play all season has brought him the praise of many sports writers, first played football with East DePere high school. He was a likely prospect as a freshman, but did not report for drill in his sophomore year. Last season he was a capable understudy to Phenice and Laird and took the latter's place when Wisconsin cracked the lanky wingman's jaw. This year his punting and sensational end play have stood out in the Viking attack.

Chestley Gebhart, a hard tackler whose specialty is backing up the line on defense and blocking out inquisitive enemy tacklers on the offense, has gone about his work in a great way this year. Looked upon as green when he first reported, "Geb" proved to be Lund's equal in tackling ability, and a great blocking half. As a result of his early practice showing Coach Clapp has used him to good advantage all through the season, both as a starter and relief man. Gebhart attended Stevens Point high school, but was not a football performer there. He has been a Vike squad member for two years.

Louis Schier, a halfback of no mean ability, sees his last action for Lawrence tomorrow, and his graduation will leave another gap for Coach Clapp to fill next season. A great runner on off-tackle smashes, Schier has spun his way over a lot of yardage this fall, and is expected to be a mainstay in the Vike attack against the Carls. Schier attended Washington high, Milwaukee, as a prep student, but waited until he entered Lawrence before going out for football. He has seen action in Viking games ever since his sophomore year, but has turned in his best performances this season.

Tom Ryan, the diminutive Irish backfield ace, has done some consistent playing for the Vikes in his three years as a varsity man. Lacking in weight, but more than making up for this by a spirited show of fight, Ryan has won himself a place among the backfield men who will be seriously missed next year. Tom has called signals at times this year, and, although he has not seen full time service in all the games on the schedule, he has been a consistent ground gainer whenever given a chance to show his heels to the enemy defense. Ryan is an Appleton product, and attended high school in this city.

Lewellen Lund, the blond fullback, who puts his head down and goes, will be sorely missed when the curtain goes up on next year's grid campaign. One of the hardest tackling backs in the Big Four, and a dynamo of energy on the offense, Lund has been one of the most consistent Viking ground gainers. Lew "prepped" at West Green Bay high school, but he had other interests than football until Lawrence claimed him. He starred here as a freshman and sophomore, but failed to report as a junior. The urge became too much, however, and he came out again this year to burn up the gridiron.

Lardner Coffey, husky tackle, had his prep training at University high in Minneapolis where he starred for three years. Tried at center, end, guard, and tackle, in his sophomore year, Coffey won his letter by sheer fight against heavier opposition. He won another letter last season, and has been a bulwark of strength in the light Viking forward wall this year.

Charles Culmer, another tackle, although not seeing regular service this fall, has been one of the most capable reserves on Coach Clapp's rather limited list. Having a distinct weight advantage over several of the linemen, Culmer has used his beef to good advantage against all the opposition he has faced this season. Culmer went to Duluth Central high school, but did not incline toward football in his prep school days. He played frosh football at Lawrence. In addition, Culmer achieved Phi Beta Kappa honors in academic pursuits.

Grid-graph Is Installed at Columbia University

A large "grid-graph" was installed in the Columbia university gym for a play-by-play description of the Columbia-Cornell game. A system of lights indicated all plays as they took place at the game at Ithaca, N. Y. Football spirit was brought out by cheer leaders and a section of the band, which played in the gym during the half.

Mount Vernon, Iowa.—The Cornell football team proved to be a stumbling block in the path of Knox toward the Midwest conference championship last week. The Purple earned a 9 to 0 victory over the Siwashers to finish the season with a 50-50 rating in the standing.

Carleton played the first of its two Midwest games with Coe last week and was a 33 to 2 victor. Monmouth won another Little Nineteen game with Lake Forest, 32 to 7, and Lawrence won from Carroll, 18 to 12. Ripon received one of the worst defeats in the country last week when Michigan State won 100 to 0 from the Redmen.

This week will bring to a close most of the Midwest conference schedule. Knox visits Coe for a game that has possibilities of an upset. Carleton and Lawrence close their grid seasons on the latter's gridiron. Cornell will tackle another Big Ten foe at Minnesota this week; Lake Forest will furnish the opposition for Beloit and Monmouth goes to Carthage for a game.
